

features

other program

keynote lectures

Daily there will be two 50 minute long lectures given by world renowned researchers and therapists (see page 4)

discussion groups

Following the keynote lectures on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, groups formed by the attendants will discuss issues raised in the preceding lectures. There will be groups in English, German, and possibly other languages clinical workshops

On Wednesday morning and in the afternoon of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, leading experts in therapeutic modalities such as cognitive therapy, brief dynamic psychotherapy, interpersonal therapy, and group psychotherapy will run parallel clinical workshops demonstrating treatment rationale and techniques. Number of participants per workshop is limited and participation is on a first come first serve basis. Workshop participation fee is not included in the registration fee. Detailed information available on homepage in February 2002

symposia

will typically be organized by participants and feature 3-4 presentations (with or without a discussant) on related topics pertaining to clinical practice, research or theoretical concepts

free paper sessions will be organized with 3-4 presentations on clinical, research or theoretical topics poster sessions

Will be organized under special themes, with 30-50 presentations in each poster session